HONGKONG, OCTOBER 22ND, 1910.

STRANGELY enough among the generally recognised authorities not one who has written of the characteristics of the Chinese people has given them credit for hospitality; but if among the Commercial Delegates who are now paying China a visit on the invitation of the Chinese Chambers of Commerce, there are any who contemplate writing books, that omission will certainly be rectified. Since they have been in China the American Commercial Delegates have been most royally entertained, and their visit to Southern China is not likely to differ in this respect from their experiences in the North. They are now in Canton where they are to be entertained not only by the Chamber of Commerce, but by the Viceroy. Amidst all this entertaining their opportunities for studying the possibilities of trade between China and America in so brief a time cannot be great. In the North, however, they have seen many striking evidences of the new commercial and industrial developments in China, and their visit and friendly intercourse with the leading merchants of the Northern and Southern ports will be an abiding recollection which is certain to be expressed sooner or later in substantial gains to the trade and commerce between the two countries. Doubtless the relations now established between the Chambers of Commerce on both sides of the Pacific Ocean will be maintained and cultivated.

Mr. SCHWERTZ when he was in Hongkong last week threw out the suggestion at a Chinese gathering that the Chinese Chambers of Commerce should send groups of delegates to the United States to study trade possibilities there. We may confidently conclude that it will not be long before we see this suggestion adopted. The American Chambers of Commerce will, of course, return the compliment which the Chinese Chambers are now paying to them. Though the commercial results immediately accruing from these amenities may be small, there can be no doubt of the permanent commercial and political value of a constantly fostered friendship such as this visit of the Commercial Delegates will inaugurate. It is true that California as a State has not distinguished itself by its hospitality towards the Chinese, but it is very evident that there is a strong sentiment favourable to a relaxation of the exclusion laws. Indeed, a week ago, it was stated in native papers that the Chinese Minister at Washington had reported to the Waiwatu that in view of the increasing cordiality of the relations between China and America the Government had resolved to abrogate the exclusion laws, replacing them by regulations under which Chinese immigrants will be accorded more favourable treatment. Though it was added that an official announcement on the subject was shortly to be expected, we fear that China will have a long time yet to wait for it. Meanwhile it is interesting to note the growing aspiration in Chinese political circles for some kind of alliance with the United States, as well as with Germany, as a protective measure from the danger of Japanese aggression. Government circles in Peking apparently have not yet ceased to be exercised over the new Russo-Japanese Convention. Conferences are still being held on the subject. Even YUAN SHY-KAI though excluded from office for some reason not published has been consulted on the policy China should adopt "to avert approaching dangers," and he appears to have suggested that the only move is in the direction of forming alliances with the United States and Germany, but hesitates to recommend it from the fear it is impracticable. We quote this simply as showing the friendly feeling towards America in the political circle. Politics and Commerce are more closely related in China than in most countries and the goodwill of the Government is a considerable factor in directing the course of foreign trade. The Delegates now in China have had ample proof of good will from the governing authorities as well as from the Commercial organisations, and it may reasonably be inferred that the foundations have been laid of a larger and improved commercial intercourse, though its development may not be rapid.

The German mail of the 21st September was delivered in London on the 20th inst.

Chinese in Hongkong are emulating the Europeans. Yesterday two were fined for disorderly conduct and assaulting the police.

It is interesting to note that the only steamers entering Hongkong to fly the new Portuguese flag are the Sui Cheong and the Hoi Ching.

The birthday of H.I.M. the Emperor of Japan on November 3rd will be celebrated in Hongkong by an "At Home," for which Consul and Mrs. Funatsu have just issued invitations.

A raid on an opium den was carried out on Thursday night by the police, who arrested 35 men, three of whom are charged with being masters and keeping an opium den. The case was called at the Magistracy yesterday and remanded.

H. E. Dr. Dornburg, the late Secretary of State for the German Colonies, is at present on a visit to Canton. He returns to Hongkong on Monday, when he and Herr Hanneken, the Director of the Norddeutscher Lloyd Line, will be entertained at dinner at the Club Germania by the German merchants of Hongkong.

The annual Licensing Sessions in Hongkong are announced by advertisement on page 5 to be held on Wednesday, November 2nd, at the Council Chamber. It will be seen that twenty-six licences come up for review, and the proceedings, we learn, are likely to be more than usually interesting.

The Bulletin of the Hongkong Y.M.C.A. referring to the impending departure of Captain A. J. Baker and family for England on the transport Rohilla says:—We deeply regret that his period of service in Hongkong is ended and that the time has now come for him to leave us. He has been a most valuable member of the Association, truly exemplifying the Association spirit of service. He has cheerfully and faithfully carried out the work involved in the various committees on which he has served. He has rendered specially effective service in connection with the Tennis Club and the Social Committee. He will be greatly missed by all members of the Association. As he goes our good wishes will go with both him and his family, and we wish them "bon voyage" and pleasant surroundings in their new home.

At the Magistracy yesterday a Chinese wine and spirit merchant was fined $50 for selling saushu during prohibited hours.

On his recent trip to Hongkong the Hon. C. B. Elliott, Secretary of Commerce and Police in the Philippine Islands, entered into a parcel post convention, on behalf of the Philippine Islands with the Colony of Hongkong.

A motor accident in Manila last Saturday resulted in serious injury to Joaquin Y. de Aldecoa, the owner of the wrecked machine, the Philippine chauffeur, and the two passengers, Roy J. Berry and C. E. Bischoff. The chauffeur died the same night.

The Bill now before the Legislative Council to amend the Liquor Licences Ordinance provides that no liquor shall be sold or drunk upon licensed premises except between the hours of 8 a.m. and 12 p.m. The Governor-in-Council however, is given power to alter such hours by Order. At present there does not appear to be any definite hours.

A visitor at Macao writes to us to say that the reports about the ill-behaviour of the Portuguese soldiers and sailors towards the priests are greatly exaggerated. One or two intoxicated men may have made themselves obnoxious, but, as our correspondent points out, it would be manifestly unfair to allow it to be inferred that an isolated case of this kind indicates the attitude of soldiers and sailors generally in Macao. Our correspondent has been most favourably impressed by the conduct of the men of both forces.

Three men were rescued from an upturned junk on Wednesday night by Captain McGinty of the S. S. San Cheung. As the steamer was passing Tiger Island on the downward voyage from Canton a shout was heard. Usually little attention would have been paid to this, as the fishermen frequently call out if a vessel approaches close to their nets. On this occasion, however, Captain McGinty looked in the direction of the sound and saw something in the water which induced him to lower a boat. When the boat reached the spot it was found that three men were clinging to a capsize junk. The junk had been loaded, or overloaded, with bananas, and had turned turtle. Fortunately no lives were lost.

The Hon. C. B. Elliott, Secretary of Commerce and Police in the Philippines, who recently made a stay of several days in Hongkong, interviewed by a Manila paper on his return, is reported to have spoken as follows:—We were entertained royally by the officials and military at Hongkong and were given every opportunity to see the places of interest. I found a very live spirit of interest existing in Hongkong with regard to two things, the coming 1911 Carnival and Baguio, the Philippine mountain capital. I heard much talk about the clubs and other places on the latter subject, and will not be surprised if the coming Baguio season will see many people from the China Coast numbered among the guests. Regarding the Carnival, nearly everybody wanted to know all about it. Although nothing definite has been decided upon, as Major-General Broadwood will be relieved before that time, and the Governor, Sir Frederick Lugard, is in England on leave, it is nearly certain that Hongkong will be represented at this Carnival in several ways. Besides sending down several good athletes to take part in the Olympic Games it has been suggested that the famous Rajput Band, which was seen in Manila once before at the second Carnival, and two companies of that crack corps, be included in Hongkong's representation to the big Philippine show this year. As I said before, this is not at all certain, but has been suggested and favourably considered, and there seems to be no opposition to the idea, so it is quite likely to come about.

THE AMERICAN VISITORS.

The American commercial delegates left for Canton yesterday by the river steamer On Lee, which was chartered for the trip. They were to be met at the Chinese capital by representatives of the Viceroy and the Tartar General, as well as by members of the Provincial Assembly and the Chamber of Commerce. After spending the day in sightseeing the visitors were to dine with the Viceroy and the Tartar General. To-day the Americans will visit the historic quarters of the city, will meet in conference with the Chinese Chamber of Commerce, and will luncheon with the General Commercial Association. After tiffin they proceed to Fatsien by rail, returning by steamer in the evening. On Monday they will be the guests of the Provincial Assembly, and in the evening they will leave for Hongkong.

A CHINESE DESERTER.

Before Commander Basil Taylor, R.N., at the Marine Magistrate's Court yesterday, Mr. W. E. Wiler, purser of the s.s. Empress of China, proceeded against a Chinese stoker named Chong Sau, for deserting from the steamer at Vancouver on May 24th.

Prosecutor informed the Court that defendant had no permission to go ashore at Vancouver, as no Chinese were allowed to land there. Defendant was missed the day before the ship sailed, but the police and Customs were apprised of the desertion, and accused was apprehended and put on board before the vessel left on this voyage. No prosecution took place at Vancouver.

Defendant said the fourth engineer struck him severely, so he left the ship. He did not complain to anyone.

His Worship made an order that the defendant should forfeit the wages due to him, $135, and sentenced him to six weeks' imprisonment with hard labour.

SUPREME COURT.

Friday, October 21st.

IN SUMMARY JURISDICTION.

BEFORE HIS HONOUR MR. F. A. HANLON (ACTING PRINCIPAL JUDGE).

SUED BY EMPLOYEES.

Woo Pang and six other employees of the Wing Shing firm brought action against that firm to recover a total amount of $375 said to be due for wages.

Mr. Balmer Johnson (of Messrs. Denny & Bowley) appeared for the plaintiffs, and Mr. M. Reader Harris (of Messrs. Wilkinson & Co.) represented the defendants.

Mr. Harris asked his Lordship to adjourn the case for a week.

Mr. Johnson—This is rather a serious matter for my clients, who are servants of this firm, and are suing for wages. The firm is now in the hands of the bailiff, there will be tremendous delay, and my clients won't get anything at all.

Mr. Harris—There is not likely to be any tremendous delay, but I think my friend expected the case to be fixed sometime in January because he is claiming wages up to that month. We say they are only entitled to wages up to the present time.

His Lordship—It seems rather a pressing case, and I will give you Friday at twelve o'clock.

It was pointed out that there was another case fixed for that day.

Mr. Johnson—Has your Lordship no time before next Friday? This is a very urgent matter, as the goods of the shop are going to be sold on Monday.

Mr. Harris—I pointed out to my friend that he can attach the proceeds of the sale.

His Lordship fixed the hearing for Saturday morning, at 11 o'clock.

ANOTHER ACTION AGAINST THE SAME FIRM.

Another action was brought against the same defendants by P. N. Cooper, who claims the sum of $299.96, and is represented by Mr. F. X. d'Almada e Castro (of Messrs. Almada & Smith). The hearing was fixed to come on after the previous action concluded.

IN THE GRIP OF THE MONEYLENDEES.

Maja Singh brought action against a Chinese clerk to recover the sum of $151 due for money lent.

Mr. J. H. Gardiner, who represented the plaintiff, informed his Lordship that judgment was obtained in this action on May 15th. The reason he had had it re-instated was because at the time judgment was given the defendant was paying instalments of $25 a month in connection with another action. He had now paid off the whole of that judgment, and Mr. Gardiner thought he was in a position to pay off more on the present judgment.

His Lordship—This is the man against whom I have entered judgment for $1,000?

Mr. Gardiner—He is in a good position in the Hamburg America Line, and I think he should be able to pay larger instalments in this case.

His Lordship (to defendant)—How much are you able to pay?

Defendant—I get $140 a month, and at present I am paying $60 a month on judgments.

Mr. Gardiner—I understand that $140 is his fixed salary, but he gets considerably more than that.

His Lordship—What commission do you get?

Defendant—None at present, my Lord.

Mr. Gardiner—I understand he gets a considerable amount.

His Lordship—You can ascertain that fact from his employers.

Mr. Gardiner—I would like a substantial order. If your Lordship will double the amount, he was paying $25 on the old judgment.

His Lordship—What about the $1,000 to-day? Mr. Gardiner—I would ask your Lordship to deal with this case first. He is now paying $25 a month less than he was a month ago.

His Lordship—Is that so?

Defendant—Yes, but I have to pay instalments on another debt now.

His Lordship made an order increasing the amount of the monthly instalment by $10.

The case in which the same defendant was sued by U. L. A. Mohideen to recover $1,000 for money lent was then mentioned, and the defendant consented to judgment in the action.

His Lordship asked defendant how much interest he had been paying.

Defendant said he paid on one loan 60 per cent. per annum.

Mr. Gardiner—That is not an Indian, my Lord.

His Lordship—What have you to say about this?

Mr. Gardiner—I would suggest that he be ordered to pay $20 a month, and that I have liberty to apply for an increase as soon as the other judgment is satisfied.

Defendant—I will have nothing left to support my wife and family.

His Lordship—That is your own fault. You are in receipt of an excellent salary for a Chinaman; a huge salary.

Mr. Gardiner—And even with that he has been borrowing large sums.

His Lordship ordered defendant to pay instalments of $15 a month, the first to be paid on November 3rd.

THE TEST CASE.

The hearing of the Test Case in which Cheong Ting Sam sues the Kwong Yee Fung Firm, which has already lasted three days, was continued.

Mr. Eldon Potter (instructed by Mr. Sydenham Dixon) represented the plaintiff, and Mr. C. G. Alabaster (instructed by Mr. d'Almada) appeared for the defendants.

The case was adjourned, and is to be continued all next week.

CHINESE SEPARATION CASE.

The hearing of the case in which a Chinese woman named Chan Sam Mei, charged her husband, Ng Chap Ng, with persistent cruelty was resumed at the Magistracy yesterday before Mr. J. R. Wood. She asked for a separation order and a weekly allowance not exceeding $20. Mr. Leo d'Almada e Castro appeared for complainant, and Mr. G. K. H. Bruton represented the defendant.

Mr. d'Almada said the overtures for a settlement had failed, but notwithstanding that it was his duty to tell his Worship that even now his client was prepared to withdraw the proceedings if defendant would promise her some allowance. He had informed his friend of this, but he had replied that his client was not in a position to pay anything. That being so, he should have to proceed to prove the persistent cruelty.

Mr. Bruton said before his friend called evidence he should like to point out that this offence had been condoned by the letters which had passed with regard to returning for cohabitation. The letters showed that the wife was prepared to come back on certain terms, and this restored the husband to the same position he was in before.

His Worship said he would reserve his decision on the point raised.

Mr. Ng Li King, father of the defendant spoke to the parties living with him after their marriage until about two months ago.

Mr. d'Almada—During that time did you have occasion to intermeddle in their quarrels?—I don't know anything about it.

Have you never seen any quarrels between them?—I have seen none.

Do you mean to suggest you don't know the reason of their parting?—That is a matter between the husband and wife. Sometimes they might look as if they were quarrelling. I did not want to go into it.

Mr. Bruton—It would have been the wife's duty to complain to you as head of the house if there had been any quarrelling?—According to Chinese custom she ought to.

And she never did?—No.

Dr. Just gave evidence to medically treating the complainant.

An amah formerly employed by the complainant stated that one night she heard her mistress crying, and she also heard noises caused by defendant striking her. He chased her and caught her by the hair. When complainant called out "Save life," he let go, and complainant then went to her mother's house.

Another amah testified to seeing the parties fighting. Defendant struck his wife in the face and threw his hat at her.

This concluded the case, and his Worship asked if defendant would insist on his wife coming back if no order were made.

Mr. Bruton said defendant did not insist on her coming back, but he was perfectly willing that she should do so.

His Worship adjourned the case for the consideration of legal authorities quoted.

MONEY-LENDING "ENTERPRISE" IN HONGKONG.

In consequence, it may be, of the many exposures which have been made in the Courts of the Colony of the various interest charged by money-lending Indians, business in that line appears to be dull. Hence they are striking out in new directions. The manager of a well-known foreign firm of commission merchants in the Colony was astonished to receive through the post yesterday the following audacious epistle:—

October 20th, 1910.

SIR,—I have heard that you have now much plenty financial trouble on account as you have had so much loss and I am now as your obedient servant prepare to lend the money if want so and when you pay me 10 per cent. to me for which I shall pray for ever as I am your obedient servant. If I want me I have one friend and he also will lend you money so you have no more trouble. Please answer this letter.—Your obedient servant.

HOOSAH SINGH.

There was added a footnote giving a local newspaper office as an address and cautioning the receiver of the letter to carefully note the particular Singh, as some other of that ilk is "a good carter man."

The audacity of the letter is made plainer when we add that there is no foundation in fact for the suggestion that the receiver of the letter is in financial difficulties. Possibly it is a stereotyped form of making a proposal, and it may be that other European residents have been similarly favoured. It will be observed that though money is offered at 10 per cent. it is not stated whether this is per annum or per mensem. Hoosah Singh possibly does not realise the offensiveness of his conduct in touting for business in this way among self-respecting Europeans, and for his own educational advantage it is perhaps a pity that he does not favour his would-be benefactors with personal visits.

THE NEW VICEROY OF INDIA.

ON ANGLO-RUSSIAN RELATIONS.

LONDON, October 21st.

Lord Hardinge, the new Viceroy of India, has been entertained at a banquet in London.

Tributes were paid to his diplomatic ability by Lord Lansdowne and Sir Edward Grey in negotiating the Anglo-Russian entente.

Lord Hardinge said the Convention had already stood the test of trial and had been of incalculable advantage to India. This happy issue was largely due to the late King Edward and to the Tsar. The latter, to his personal knowledge, had always been a strong advocate of the most friendly and peaceful relations with Great Britain.

GERMAN ENTERPRISE.

CRUISE AS ADVERTISEMENT.

According to the Hamburger Nachrichten, the new Dreadnought cruiser Von der Tann is about to make a prolonged cruise for advertisement purposes in South American waters. The journal says:—

Before the Von der Tann joins the high seas fleet, she will undertake a cruise lasting several months, partly in order to test the new devices which are being tried aboard her for the first time and partly in order to bring before the eyes of the South American Republics, whose attention is now largely occupied with the creation or strengthening of their navies, an example of the capability of the German shipbuilding industry in the field of great battleship construction, and thus make propaganda for German shipyards.

With this object especially, while on the West Coast of South America, calls will be made at Callao and Peruvia ports. As after crossing the Atlantic the cruiser sails down the East Coast of South America and up the West Coast to the northern part of the continent, passing through all regions of climate, the voyage will give an opportunity for the thorough testing of all the new machinery under various temperature and weather conditions, especially the new devices for the ventilation of the engine and boiler rooms.

The tests will be all the more valuable, as the Navy Bill contemplates the provision of a flying squadron of armoured cruisers, which will not be bound to any station, but will be dispatched wherever their presence is desirable.

the Canadian Club, Ottawa, at which Sir W.
Laurier and Mr. Fisher, Minister of Agricul-

MR. BALFOUR AND PAYMENT OF MEMBERS.

London, October 21st.
In his speech at Edinburgh Mr. Balfour said that the organization of labor was necessary, but a reversal of the Osborne judgment would restore the perversion of the organization for political purposes and would re-establish unparalleled the latter.

AMERICAN CUSTOMS AND TEXTILE SAMPLES.

London, October 21st.
Reuter cables from Washington that there is authority for the statement that all objections of European exporters of textiles to the American Customs regulations have been settled, except as regards the regulation which requires samples to be submitted by Consuls, which promises to be a knotty problem.PHILIPPINES LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.THE GOVERNOR-GENERAL'S PROGRAMME.The Governor-General in his message to the Philippine Legislature recommends a pension system for long time employees. He says:

PENSION SCHEME.

"The government, and incidentally the people of the Philippines, are continually suffering loss of their good employees. Good men are hard to get and hold, as they are always sought for other positions, and the service which can attract the best class of men and hold them is the one that is going to prosper most. In the tropics there is the additional risk of the loss of health, and a great many valuable American employees have left the Philippine service because of the fact they feared, after 12, 15, or 20 years of faithful service, they would go back and find they were unfitted for the kind of work which remained for them to do in the homeland. The cost of living here is such that very few people are able to save much money from their salaries, and the result is that many men are willing to accept a position in the United States at a lower salary and with less responsible work. Could those who have given their lives to the service of the Philippine Islands be assured that a pension would be given to them on retirement, it would result in a marked economy in the matter of holding good men in the service, and in the long run would be beneficial to the islands and result in economies and saving and betterment of administration in excess of the cost of paying the pensions to those who availed themselves of the privilege. I therefore recommend that the legislature pass an act providing for a reasonable pension which would be proportioned on the length of service and on the salary received."

THE SUGAR INDUSTRY.

The Governor-General makes the further recommendation that the government use its resources to assist the owners of sugar estates to combine so as to construct modern sugar mills for the treatment of sugar cane. The existing mills recover only about half the recoverable sugar in the cane, and modern mills would be extremely profitable to local sugar growers. Authority is given for the investment by the Government of the accretions to the gold standard fund from interest and exchange, and that this money should be made available for the purchase of bonds of companies organized to construct and operate modern sugar mills.

THE BENGUET ROAD.

Speaking of the Benguet road and Baguio the Governor-General says: "Till last year the Filipino people have reaped no advantage from the construction and maintenance of the Benguet road, owing to the fact that no facilities had been provided for the use of Baguio once there. All modern and progressive tropical countries maintain a resort at an altitude which ensures a cool climate, and that of Baguio is ideal. There is no doubt as to the benefit derived by Filipinos from an annual sojourn in the mountains, not only for those who are suffering from disease but also for those who are enjoying ordinary health."
"Contracts have been signed with the Manila Railroad Company for the construction of a railroad line to Baguio, and favourable reports have been received from the engineers of the feasibility of constructing the railroad line in the near future. With this additional facility, the value of Baguio should be greatly enhanced to the Filipinos.""It is of great importance to people suffering from tuberculosis is most beneficial, and it is believed that as a tuberculosis resort alone, it will ultimately justify every expense that has been put upon it."
"It is my belief that the legislature should seriously consider making Baguio the site for a university, with the object of giving the students the advantage of developing their bodies and minds under favorable conditions which prevail in a temperate climate. I am not prepared to make any recommendations, however, for immediate legislation to this end.""The cost of the government buildings and improvements at Baguio has been taken from the revenues of 1909, P204,000; 1910, P304,000, including some P90,000 in equipment; and in 1911, P100,000. It is expected to spend in the course of the year."

CATTLE DISEASE.

In regard to the suppression of cattle diseases, the Governor-General says: "The measures taken toward the suppression of rinderpest in the islands bid fair to wipe out this disease, although we are still far from safe, and rein-fection of localities is constantly occurring.""It is now recommended that animals afflicted with rinderpest be immediately killed and their carcasses destroyed. The very fact of their being alive in the community is a menace. The attendants are likely to carry the disease on their clothes and bodies; birds might carry it, and it is better that the chance of infection be eliminated. It is proposed that the bureau of agriculture be authorized to immediately kill any animal as soon as the disease is detected, giving from the insular treasury a reasonable compensation to the owner thereof. I approve this recommendation and urge that special appropriation of the sum of P75,000 be made to meet the expense incurred for this purpose during the remainder of the present fiscal year and that in the appropriation for the ensuing fiscal year an allowance of P100,000 be included for this purpose."

AGRICULTURE.

The Governor-General recommends an increase in the appropriations for the bureau of agriculture for the coming fiscal year. The bureau estimates that it will need P1,318,700.

SHIPPING AND OTHER BILLS.

He recommends the passage of the irrigation bill; a commercial shipping bill to define the status of seamen and creating the office of shipping commissioner; a bill authorizing the banks to keep the 20 per cent reserve required by Act 1459 of the Commission, known as the corporation law, against only the currency accounts and the fixed deposits coming due within thirty days. The passage of this Act, it is claimed by the chief executive, would relieve the banks in a great measure and afford sufficient security for the depositors.

MISCELLANEOUS MEASURES.

Governor-General Forbes also recommends that the penalty for cattle stealing be increased in order to put a stop to the continued theft of work animals.
In regard to the establishment of a gas plant in Manila the Governor-General says: "Manila is one of the few large cities in the world of great importance that has not a gas plant. It is understood that parties are ready to construct a gas plant in Manila provided a suitable franchise is granted to them by the legislature." He therefore recommends legislation on the subject.Recommendations are made for the reduction of the penalty imposed upon persons convicted of falsification of public documents. In this regard the Governor-General says:"By recent decision of the Supreme Court of the United States the punishment imposed by the laws in force in the Philippine Islands for the falsification of a public document is declared to be cruel and unusual. The penalty imposed by existing law for this crime is one of proportion to the magnitude of the crime and the penalties imposed for other similar crimes. It is recommended that an amendment be made to the penal code modifying the penalty in those cases, as the decision of the Supreme Court may have the result of liberating certain persons who ought to undergo punishment yet who cannot be punished to the extreme now provided in the law.—The Cebuensis."

ADVENTURES OF A BOTANIST.

EXPEDITION IN REMOTE CHINA.

A gold medal has been awarded by the Royal Horticultural Society for an exhibit of new plants raised at Aldham House, Hereford, from seeds sent home from China and shown by the Hon. Vicary Gibbs.The story of these wonderful plants, hitherto unknown to botanists, is of a romantic character.
The seeds were collected by Mr. E. H. Wilson, who travelled through Northern and Western China, on behalf of Mr. Vicary Gibbs and some American horticulturists, in search of new treasures of the flower kingdom and plant life.
His wanderings led him into wild districts of China never before visited by Europeans. He made friends and in some cases had to avoid the enmity of the Chinese hill-tribes. He suffered many hardships and perils. With his caravan of twenty-five guides and carriers he climbed great and unexplored mountains, made his way through vast virgin forests, and lived in the most remote and desolate regions of that great Empire. He had no other object but the discovery of new plants; he risked his life and health because that ambition led him onwards and lured him into the wildest spots, and his toil was rewarded with the discovery of an immense number (at least 1,000) of new plants.One of Mr. Wilson's first great journeys was through the Ching-tai-shan region, near the Chengtu Plain, where the range was clothed with a dense jungle and brushwood. Descending to this valley he crossed over to the territory of one of the semi-independent tribes, and obtained the friendship of the chief, who allowed him to traverse his country freely. This region was previously unknown botanically, and Mr. Wilson found many new specimens. Reaching the city of Tsun the traveller after a rest crossed the river for forty-one days, and his way through to Tsichien-shan, traversing the territories of several tribes who own but a shadowy allegiance to the Emperor of China and live in barbaric liberty. The roads were but mountain tracks and crossed great ranges rising to 15,000ft; where the scenery is described by him as "wild and entrancing." For many days he was in the silence and the beauty of the great virgin woods, and with axes his companions hewed their way through the undergrowth, sleeping at night under magnificent birches, with a rich orange-colored bark, which glowed to a height of 100ft, and have a gigantic girth.In another journey Mr. Wilson passed through the wilderness behind Mount Omi, and in the savage scenery of the steep cliffs and caves found many new treasures. On the lower ranges charcoal burners have destroyed all the forest, leaving in its place a dense jungle of bamboo. But from 7,000 to 10,000ft. Mr. Wilson found an absolutely impenetrable forest of bamboo. On Mount Wa he found among other wonderful plants, a variety of Lonicera hispida, with enormous white flowers, creamy yellow in colour, and some plants, with rich maroon flowers and scarlet fruits over a foot in length.As the result of these wanderings in China, Mr. Wilson sent 1,000 different varieties of seed to Mr. Vicary Gibbs, and under the direction of Mr. Edwin Beckett, the well-known horticulturist, who superintends the great gardens at Aldham House in Herefordshire, no fewer than 700 varieties have been raised into hardy thriving plants. A great many forms of Chinese blackberry and growing in profusion in these gardens, and one which is especially fine, is specially peculiar because of its large, white thorny fruit. One interesting plant was a Chinese rubber tree, which grows to a great size and should give a rich sap. Here, perhaps, is a new source of fortune in rubber. A Chinese variety of the Judas tree, upon which Isaacari is said to have hanged himself, a plant called Paulownia, with giant leaves, a Chinese horse chestnut, a great tall tree, Chinese vines growing most luxuriantly, and an immense number of new plants blooming already with flowers that have never before been seen in the Western world (and burdened with names that would terrify all but botanists) have been successfully reared in Mr. Vicary Gibbs' garden, from the seeds which were secured on the adventu-ous journeys by Mr. Wilson.

SHANGHAI TRADE.

Messrs. Ilbert & Co.'s Price: Goods Market Report says:—There have been several factors of a critical nature in the active monetary circles which have entirely dislocated money conditions. In the meantime, however, while these matters are engaging the earnest attention of trade, financial and consular bodies, the loss comment the better. The actualities that have occurred in the interval are the suspension of a large international bank, having branches in several different provinces and total liabilities of close upon twenty million taels. Also a run upon the Ningpo bank has been in progress during the last couple of days.Naturally the financial class now prevailing, enquiry for purchases from stock is not brisk, and although there are several important country orders which want cargo, orders are being withheld for the time being. Merchants with funds in hand have, however, been actively clearing former purchases, evidently preferring the security of actual goods to that of credit balances with their banks. The bull account for imports is steadily growing, some goods being down to extremely low stock, while the country demand must show some reflection from the excellent crops and being gathered in, but without financial facilities being available the business cannot eventuate.Meantime prices in producing markets are going up rapidly with the rise in the price of the raw material, reports of early frost and a short picking season having sent the price of "spot" American middling from 7.61d. to 8.15d. per lb. in a week. Crop accounts received here appear, however, to be of a very varied nature, and it may be that the speculative element is making the most of the highly sensitive position.
The cotton, caused by the untimely lateness of the crop in America, and its consequent dependence upon a long picking season to produce a large yield.

RUBBER NEWS.

BUKIT LINTANG RUBBER.

The Bukit Lintang Rubber Estates is a comparatively small undertaking, having a nominal share capital of £30,000 only and a property in Malacca, comprising 791 acres, all of which, except 50 acres, is under cultivation. Although it was not registered more than two and a half years ago, the company has done remarkably well, and is now making a handsome return to its shareholders. Considerable progress was made during the financial years ended June 30 last, the rubber crop for that period being £225,162, against the estimate of £20,000, while the price realised averaged 7s. 2d. per lb. For the previous year the crop harvested was only 219,514 lb., the average price being 6s. 6d. For the period under review the profit amounted to £27,751, and the directors recommend a final dividend of 25 per cent, making 30 per cent for the year, leaving £1,238 to be carried forward, against £761 brought into the account. This is very satisfactory, and a return of 30 per cent in the first year of any distribution being made argues well for the future of the company. Next year's rubber crop is estimated at 70,000 lb.

DEALERS IN HIGHLANDS.

The London Globe of the 26th ult. says:— With regard to the rubber business in the Highlands and Lowlands Para Rubber Company, to which we have previously referred, and which the secretaries of the company attribute to "malicious or designing persons," it appears that only two cases of cholera have occurred on one division of the estates, none having been reported since July 7. Shareholders will be glad to have this official assurance, and to know that the reports from the estates are uniformly satisfactory. The rubber harvested to the end of August amounted to 328,670 lb., against an estimate of 260,000 lb. for the year. Of this year's crop, 260,000 lb. have been sold to date at an average of 8s. 6d. per lb. net. At the same date last year the company had sold 171,195 lb., at an average of 6s. 4d. per lb. net. The amount of rubber harvested this year to 31st August exceeds the 1909 yield to same date by 117,751 lb. The increase in the yield of rubber to the end of last month amounted to 55.8 per cent., and the average sale price of this year's rubber amounts to more than 35 per cent. in excess of that of last year. In accordance with our anticipations, the directors announce a second interim dividend on account of 1910 of 10 per cent.

THE MARKET GENERALLY.

The improving tendency in the Rubber Share Market has come most opportunely, and it is devotedly hoped that it will make further progress. Following on the heavy depression which was so much in evidence up to a few days ago, and which was attributable to the liquidation of weak operators' positions in the Far East, where there has been great financial trouble—the aftermath of the rubber "boom"—the recovery is doubly welcome. The continuance of the improvement will, of course, depend a great deal upon whether there are any further weak speculators to be closed, as no market can stand up against a constant stream of liquidation; but it is understood that in addition to "bear covering" purchases, investors have been picking up the shares of some of the leading rubber companies which are now at a level at which they will return on the outlay from 10 to 15 per cent. Highlands at 5½ should pay well over 10 per cent. on the present price of shares, and Pataing at 2½ will yield an investor somewhere about 14 per cent. The dividend of the Damansara Company will probably be paid sufficiently late to give purchasers of the shares at 7½ about 13 or 14 per cent., and numerous similar instances might be given to show that holders of shares in better class rubber enterprises may look forward with every confidence to receiving a substantial return on their capital. The immediate outlook for this market may not be over-optimistic, as it is doubtful how much further the price of rubber may recede; but before very long it is certain that a great change for the better must occur.
The increasing value to which rubber is being put must increase the demand for the raw material, and the buyers who are now holding back will be forced to come to market and replenish their stocks.—The Globe, Sept. 28th.

PLANTATION V. HARD PARA.

Mr. Norman W. Grove presided at the annual meeting of the Trumohly (Solanger) Rubber Company, held in London on the 23rd ult. He said that since the last meeting the rubber industry had gone through a period of excitement which was unique in the history of any industrial or agricultural enterprise. For the present this unhealthy state of things was at an end. The boom had spent the mad force of its youth, and after several spasmodic ups and downs, the market had now settled down to a more sober and sane level. It was satisfactory to follow the fluctuations in the price of the raw material. The present position of the rubber market was involved in some obscurity. A good deal depended on the demand from America. By shareholders in a steadily developing concern like their own, however, the present drop in the price of rubber could be regarded with equanimity. Indeed, it would have been much to the company's interest if the range of high prices had not lasted so long, as the number of new plantations would probably not have been so large. That large number of these new enterprises would, under a lower range of prices of rubber, cause disappointments affected only those who bought shares in many cases at a large premium, but where it affected the company was that the increased competition for labour and European managers made the duties and responsibilities of directors harder and more anxious, and would call for constant endeavours to keep expenditure within reasonable bounds. It was very easy to raise wages, but difficult, should necessity arise, to get them back to the normal level. It was satisfactory to the board that they were able to recommend a first dividend of 10 per cent., and that the current year's working promised to show satisfactory results. The price of plantation rubber was now considerably below that of hard Para, though at one time their own best marks exceeded it. As their own exports daily grew in magnitude and as larger and more attractive lines of evenly graded rubber induced the large manufacturers to handle Eastern plantation rubber, he had no doubt that, considering that his own article was reckoned to contain over 15 per cent. latex moisture and foreign matter, that in the near future the best grades of Eastern rubber would again reach the prices of hard Para. At any rate the shareholders might rest assured that the directors were fully alive to the importance of watching every new discovery and invention connected with the preparation of their produce, so that their rapidly increasing output might be brought to the market in the best and most attractive form.
The report was adopted.CHINA AND KING GEORGE'S CORONATION.A Peking telegraph says that King George's coronation will take place in June next year, and the Chinese Government intends to appoint Prince Chun as the Chinese representative to attend the coronation. Prince Chun, an Ambassador on the consular staff, is a son of Li Ching-fang, the retiring Minister, will be appointed as secretary to the mission.

NOTES AND NEWS.

THE ARMS OF THE STATE OF VICTORIA.

The King has approved a coat-of-arms for the State of Victoria. Judging from the description in the Melbourne papers, the design possesses some novel features. It embraces the five stars forming the constellation of the Southern Cross, two female figures typical of Peace and Prosperity, and "a demi-kangaroo holding an Imperial Crown in its paws." A "demi-kangaroo" sounds like a fresh recruit to heraldic monsters from the Antipodes.

AN INTERESTING FIND.

An interesting find has been made at Nantes.
During some excavations workmen came across a skeleton about two feet below the surface, and this is generally thought to be the remains either of one of the Knights Templars or a Knight of Malta. The spot where it was discovered was once the site of a commanderie of the Knights Templars. In 1308 the Pope suppressed the Order, and the Duke of Orleans at that day burned the troublesome members. Their goods he gave to the Knights of Malta. In 1756 the town acquired the ground, and it is thought that the skeleton now found is most likely that of one of the Knights who died in France.

DURALUMIN.

The new alloy called "duralumin," which has been discovered by Messrs. Vickers, Sons & Maxim, is expected to be on the market this month. Mr. H. B. Weeks, the chief chemist of Messrs. Vickers' works, Barrow, stated in an interview that in the course of investigations they had found an alloy which they believed to be superior to anything of its kind hitherto manufactured. The company had decided to manufacture it on a large scale, and the new industry would be put down at Birmingham.
The alloy, whilst slightly heavier than pure aluminium, was as strong as steel. It could be rolled, drawn, stamped, extended, or forged at suitable temperatures. It was lost corroding than other high aluminium alloys under all the usual tests, and possessed altogether many valuable properties. Messrs.
Vickers, Sons & Maxim, added Mr. Weeks thought there was bound to be a large demand for it, as it was only one-third the weight of brass. The firm had protected this alloy by patents throughout the whole world.

COTTON-GROWING IN RHODESIA.

An important communication is made by the Chartered Company. The Council of the British Cotton Growing Association has now approved of the arrangements for the development of cotton growing in Rhodesia, in conjunction with the British South Africa Company. Several months ago Mr. Bateson, one of the association's most experienced agriculturists, was sent to Rhodesia to report upon the suitability of the soil and climate. He reported that there were many large districts along the railway between Livingstone and Broken Hill where the conditions were favourable for cotton growing. There are a number of white planters, who, with few exceptions, have not been very successful, mainly owing to the lack of expert assistance. In some cases the land has been badly selected, and attempts have been made to grow cotton on sandy and unsuitable soil, and in others the land has been extremely tired. It has been decided to give them expert advice on the spot, to open an experimental and training farm, and to establish a ginner. It is proposed to commence work with a plantation of about 200 acres for the first season, which could afterwards be extended, and by the close of the second season sufficient data should have been acquired to prove whether cotton cultivation can be made a commercial success. The cotton produced in Rhodesia is of a very desirable quality, and has generally realised about 2d. per pound upon the price of Middling American. It has hardly been possible as yet to form a reliable opinion as to the cost of production.

A LETTER OF REBUKE FROM POPE PIUS.

The Pope, in answer to an anti-clerical speech delivered by Signor Nathan, the Mayor of Rome, last month on the occasion of the fortieth anniversary of the fall of the Pope's temporal power, has addressed a letter to Mr.
Rispoli, Mayor of Rome, saying that he wishes to express to him his deep sorrow. His Holiness adds that Signor Nathan, as a public official, was not satisfied with solemnly recalling the anniversary of the day on which the rights of pontifical sovereignty were trampled upon, but also dared to offend the doctrines of the Roman Catholic faith, the Vicar of Christ, and the Church itself.Pope Pius said further: "Speaking in the name of Rome, which, according to authoritative statements should be honoured as the peaceful home of the supreme pontiff, Signor Nathan aimed directly at our spiritual jurisdiction, denouncing with impunity and to the public contempt even the acts of our apostolic ministry."

BAD SPELLERS.

"Many University graduates, really clever men and eminent in the medical profession, are unable to write three consecutive lines without a spelling mistake." The doctors thus rebuked in one of the medical journals may console themselves with the thought that eminent authors have been known to suffer from the same disability. In his preface to the letters of Robert Louis Stevenson, Mr. Sydney Colvin wrote: "And in regard to the text, I have not held myself bound to reproduce all the author's minor eccentricities of spelling and the like. As all his friends are aware, to spell in a quite accurate and grown-up manner was a thing which this master of English letters was never able to learn; I think to distract the reader's attention from the main matter. A normal orthography has therefore been adopted throughout." So marked has this defence of the dictionary been in some well-known cases, there is almost reason for regarding it as an indication of genius.
Shakespeare is said to have spelt his names in some sixteen different ways; George Meredith, constantly spelt "judgment," "judgement," and G. B. Shaw's pen will not run to the final "e" in programme.
Queen Victoria often spelt separate "separate," whilst her published Diary is evidence of her extraordinary fondness for italics, and even Marie Corelli has been convicted of writing perspicacity for perspicacy. Percy Fitzgerald has called attention to the very eccentric punctuation of "Pickwick" by Dickens; and Lord Cameron had a remarkable weakness shared with Carlyle, for the emphasis of capital letters. The latter's gymnastics with hyphens and superlatives are history.

exceptions, there has been no material decline in money, shows a tendency towards weakness.

THE BANK OF TAIWAN,

Certainly the absolute confidence of eminent doctors is evidence enough of the exceptional benefits imparted by Phosferine. Even doctors cannot do more to prove their confidence than by using Phosferine to remedy their own disorders. Could any proof be more definite, more convincing than the testimony of John Dodd, D.S.M., Medical Officer in the late South African War, who says: "After being shot through both lungs I was dangerously reduced, and I attribute it solely to Phosferine that I regained my usual health. I have proved the value of Phosferine in brain, nerve, and muscular exhaustion." This brilliant medical officer found Phosferine particularly serviceable for insufficiency of nerve force, and declares nothing was so suitable in combating fevers, chills, &c.

John Dodd, D.S.M. (late of the Medical Staff, 5th Imperial Yeomanry, 1st Brigade, South Africa), Ladysmith House, Witton-le-Wear, writes:—"I have had considerable experience in the use of your invaluable remedy Phosferine, and it has proved particularly serviceable where there exists insufficiency of nerve force. This condition, often due to primary weakness, lays the system open to influenza, colds, neuralgia, rheumatism, indigestion, fevers, and in remedying this predisposition I have found nothing so suitable as your preparation. Phosferine invariably goes to the root of the mischief direct. The certainty of its action is moreover an estimable feature. In debility and kindred ailments, caused by a reduced system, it has unprecedented power, and in my own case I can bear evidence to its exceptional value, and am indeed greatly indebted to its wonderful restorative properties. During the late war in South Africa, I was shot through both lungs and pericardium and that reduced me most dangerously; after taking Phosferine for about two months it brought me back to my usual health. I attribute this solely to the use of Phosferine. I have advised Phosferine in several cases, and proved its value in brain, nerve, and muscular exhaustion."—March 11, 1910.

POWER FROM THE SUN.

In the experiments of H. E. Willis and J. Boyle, Jr., solar heat has been collected by passing water through a glass-covered heater exposed to the sun's rays. The heated water was stored in a well insulated tank, and drawn off to circulate around a sulphur dioxide boiler, then, after giving up its heat, was again passed through the heater. It was calculated that in latitude 34 degrees a square foot of water surface would take up about 2,350 British thermal units on a June day and 1,600 in a December day. Using two heater sections exposing 1,000 square feet to the sun, the heat collected was made to run a 20 horse-power sulphur dioxide engine, and at times developed about 15 horse-power, with a boiler pressure of 240 pounds per square inch. Reviewing the results Mr. Willis has found the cost per horse-power of the solar power plant to be about $164, or rather more than four times the cost of a steam power plant. He makes due allowance for this difference in first investment, but sanguinely concludes that in a suitable region—like California—sun power can compete in cost with steam power so long as coal costs more than 66 cents per ton, and with producer-gas power using coal at $2.00 per ton.

The system was installed by Sir Oliver Lodge, aided by J. E. Newman and R. Bomford, is now in use on several farms in England, six in Germany, and one in Holland. A network of galvanized iron wires is suspended at a height of 18 feet on wooden poles 70 yards apart, about one post per acre being needed, and an induction coil, supplied with continuous current by an ordinary dynamo, positively electrifies the wires to 60,000 to 100,000 volts. This electrification of the air over the soil continues 8 to 10 hours a day for 5 or 6 months. Very little power is needed, and the yield per acre is increased 30 per cent, and over, under some conditions.

A new fire-alarm box tried at Erie, Pa., speaking telephone transmitter and receiver place of the usual clockwork mechanism. T enables the central station to make necessary inquiries about the fire.

A unique instance of the use of growing wood has been brought to the notice of the Linnean Society of London by C. Cernus-Wilson. A gravel-pit was opened near Faversham, Kent, about 23 years ago, and excavation was continued until 10 years ago, oak trees growing over the deposit having been felled and the stumps and roots dislodged. The gravel consists of subangular, water-worn flints and sandstone blocks mixed with some of the roots and stumps are still on the ground, as the woody tissue had taken up completely enveloped many of the stones and the material not only resisted saw and but was dangerous to use as fuel because heat caused the violent bursting of the stones. Some roots contain dozens of stones, round or forming a conglomerate of flints enclosed in a woody matrix. In one specimen 67 flints were counted, the largest weighing several pounds and many empty cavities showed where stones had fallen out through shrinkage of the wood. Examples of stones in wood in much less abundance are not unknown elsewhere. A churchyard six or seven miles south of Faversham has six very large yews in the trunks of which, being embedded 7 feet above ground, another churchyard not far away has two showing flints and fragments of tiles to a height of 7 feet.

The most rigid suspension bridge ever built is stated by T. Kennard Thomas to be the Williamsburg Bridge of New York. The bridge is 7,250 feet long, the span being 1,596 feet, the stiffening truss being 40 feet deep, and the four cables contain 31,784 wires, 208 wires up each of the 37 strands of each cable. The deflection at the centre—due to expansion, contraction and live load—is 6 feet 9 inches. The Brooklyn suspension bridge is 6,000 feet long with a span of 1,596 feet, and the centre rises and falls about 9 feet each way, or 18 feet in all. Blackwell's Island bridge, a cantilever, is noted for having an extreme deflection of about 20 inches.

1012-2 Sewer air has been ruled out as a source of cholera. In the face of this fact, and in view of the fact that it cannot spread disease in the same manner formerly attributed to it. The evidence tends to show that the germs of cholera are those of street-air, and that only very rarely are they found in sewer air.

Moving pictures now represent active wide range. Photographs have been : plants at rather long intervals, and have the entire development on a screen : moments. Using X. rays, Kohler has pictures of the movements of respiration exposure lasted 15 seconds, during which the breath was held, and the reduced graphs, joined in a continuous stream, rejected by the cinematograph in a picture of the respiratory process. With sparks of one ten-millionth of a second has photographed 400 successive phases of the mechanism of an automatic although the entire operation complete of a second. Other tests have marvellous, and Lendenfeld, in one achievements, has recorded the flight by moving pictures, using exposures of of a second.

THE MALARIA PARASITE DEFIED.

A BRIGHT OUTLOOK FOR SUFFERERS.

The interest in Malaria to every dweller in China is necessarily overwhelming, for its constitutional effects are so far-reaching and its devastating power is so great that it is constantly spoken of as "The Scourge of the Tropics."

As is generally known, Malaria is due to parasites which feed on the active substance—the hemoglobin—of the red blood corpuscles. The patient thus suffers from Anemia, and as the microbes multiply and the blood is further destroyed the condition degenerates into what is known as Cachexia, an impairment of the general tissue vitality which involves the nervous, muscular, mental, circulatory, respiratory, digestive and other systems. The Malaria patient complains of many depressing symptoms, including loss of memory, impairment of the vision, depression of the spirits, insomnia, digestive disorders, lassitude, wasting and over increasing weakness—all of which make life a burden.

Happily, through the discovery of a preparation which is so powerful in overcoming these terrible after effects as quinine is in curing the early rigors of Malaria, the disease has lost its terrors.

This preparation is Santogon, the most powerful revitalising and restorative agent the world has known, which has produced effects described by doctors as little short of marvellous in saving life and restoring moribund patients to perfect health.

Santogon derives its power from the unique nature of its constituents. These are glycerophosphate of sodium, the active principle of the nervous system, chemically combined with milk protein, the chief body-building element of milk, by an intricate scientific process protected by Royal Letters Patent. The resulting product is so easily assimilated by the body that it is all absorbed within an hour after it has been taken. Santogon's action in Malaria is due to its ability to repair the ravages of the Malaria parasite on the red blood corpuscles. It restores them to their full health, power and activity, thus curing the anemia. It tones the nerves, energises the brain, nourishes the system and, in this way, overcomes the Cachexia.

How rapidly it restores the blood is proved by a case, reported in the medical papers, in which the blood corpuscles of an Officer in the Navy increased half a million per cubic centimetre and the Hemoglobin 45 per cent, with a fortnight's use of Santogon.

Malaria has a peculiarly bad effect on children, whose growth it retards most markedly. When given Santogon, such children rapidly regain their lost weight, recover their health and grow normally.

Malaria also produces the appearance of premature old age in adults. Santogon removes this appearance and the patient rapidly regains younger and younger until he becomes as well as he ever was in his life.

The letters received from physicians, from men of distinguished position and from patients generally who have testified to the extraordinary cures wrought by Santogon are numbered by the ten thousand.

Dr. H. H. W. Hart, Hapur Remount Depot, Babugrah, United Provinces, India, writes:—

"I have much pleasure in certifying to the value of Santogon in cases of Malaria, Enteric Fever, Dysentery and other exhausting diseases. I have used it regularly now in my practice for the past two years, and in no single instance have I been disappointed with its results. I can honestly affirm that many of my worst cases owed their recovery to Santogon."

Mr. Thomas Lynn, Calcutta, India, writes:—
"I was a broken-down wreck of a man, as far as health goes, and had been a martyr to Malaria for four years, becoming weaker and weaker, with the natural run-down condition and its accompaniments: Brainfag, Nervousness and Dyspepsia. Two bottles of Santogon have made an extraordinary difference for the better—may, for the best. I shall always highly recommend Santogon everywhere I go. You will readily understand what a boon such a restorative of life is to people in the Tropics, who have the awful load to fight against."

What is true of Malaria is equally true of Dysentery, Enteric Fever, and the other depressing conditions which are so prevalent in tropical climates. Santogon may be obtained from all chemists. Messrs. A. S. Watson & Co., Hongkong, will forward, post free, to all applying for it, a copy of a brightly written pamphlet "How to keep Well in Tropical Countries," by a physician, on mentioning the "Hongkong Daily Press."

XII. KASHGAR TO ANDIJAN.
(FROM "THE TIMES" PEKING CORRESPONDENT.)

Andijan, July 12th.
Kashgar city is 132 miles from the Russian frontier town of Irkeshtam, which again is 174 miles from Andijan, the nearest Russian railway station. The distance between the two places is divided into 15 stages, but travelling quickly with excellent horses I covered the distance in a little over eight days. Transport charges are equivalent to £10 10s. the ton. The first stage is Minal, a village 30 miles from Kashgar, where in a grove of poplars is the famous tablet commemorating the restoration of China's sovereignty in 1873. Here China maintains in wretched mud-hovels a garrison of 30 ill-kempt braves from Hunan and Kansu armed with ancient muzzle-loaders. Petroleum is found at the second stage and coal is being mined at the third. At various places along the route are the ruins of forts erected at the time of the reconquest.

FRONTIER GARRISONS.
Recent travellers have reported that there was observable in Turkestan some disquiet on the part of the Russian authorities at the apparent non-existence of China's military activity in the territory along the frontier. But such reports are not reconcilable with the facts as I saw them. They are as unfounded as similar reports of China's military activity along the Yunnan frontier of Burma. The Chinese chief frontier fort on the main route from Kashgar to Andijan is at Ulaqhat, 27 miles from the frontier. Another smaller fort called Yegia is 13 miles nearer the Russian boundary. On all parts of Central Asia Ulaqhat is a prominent place, its name being set out in type worthy of a frontier stronghold. I examined it accordingly with some care. It is a mud fort situated in a basin on the right bank of an unbridged river, the Kizil Su, and is commanded by mountains on all sides. Inside the fort there is complete disorder. Everything is rotting. Windows are blocked with broad sun-dried bricks. There are ruined stalls, but no horses. Of the four Chinese who held this frontier post and represent the majesty of China, two at the time of my visit were weeding in the fields, another was washing some cotton-wool, and the fourth, clad only in a jersey and pants, was playing the banjo at a cake-stall in the street. No one was in uniform. All were ragged and unkempt. Their arms, which I saw in one dirty room, were rusty old tower muskets—emblems of authority, not weapons of offence. Outside the camp in four Khirgiz tents were the 15 Khirgiz who constitute the second line of defence. They are armed with similar tower muskets cut down to carbine size, and are employed as cavalry patrols. Two filthy ponds of surface water provided the garrison with water. The courageous Khirgiz drink this water unboiled and unstrained, the less courageous Chinese dare not do so.

I am no military expert and my opinion is given only for what it is worth, but I formed the opinion that this frontier stronghold would fall before the resolute attack of three old ladies armed with broomsticks. There could be no better illustration of the neglect which is characteristic of China's frontier policy. Other countries employ smart serviceable soldiers on their borders. China alone sends to her frontier the most wretched of her ragamuffins. Every foreigner who enters China by this route forms his first impression of the Chinese Empire from witnessing the garrison of this frontier post. Every Kashgarian or Andijani who crosses the frontier—and they do so by thousands—has on the one hand the objection of Russian strength and military pride and on the other the demonstration of China's weakness and military inefficiency.

At Yegia, a stage nearer the frontier on the other side of the river from the main road, is the second fort referred to. I found it upon all accounts. It was occupied by a solitary brave, whom I had some difficulty in rousing from his opium sleep. And though I succeeded in awakening him, I could not obtain from him any other military information than is conveyed in these words, "I have no opium to sell," and having repeated this irrelevant declaration twice he rolled back to sleep and I left him.

A pleasant ride of 12 miles over the mountains leads the traveller to Irkeshtam, the Russian frontier post and Customs station, built in 1884 on a steep ridge overlooking the broad river. The post is exactly on the border, its site is well selected, and the small garrison of 25 Cossacks is quite strong enough to preserve order among this unwelcome people.

IN RUSSIAN TERRITORY.
Russian transit trade, imports and exports, passing this barrier on camels, horses, and donkeys, averaged last year throughout the year one thousand pounds a day. Two routes lead from the frontier across to the Russian railway, the winter route by the Terek Dawan and the longer, summer route, by the Alai. It was necessary that I should travel by the latter. Two passes of 1,000 ft. have to be crossed, but they are not difficult. After crossing the first pass, the Tuan Maran (11,200 ft.), you descend into the Oxus basin. There is a large traffic. On the way there are splendid pastures with profusion of flowers, picturesque encampments of Khirgiz, abundance of flocks and herds, camels, yaks, and horses, and the most varied scenery of river and snow-clad mountain. The second pass is the Taldik. At its eastern end is the Khirgiz encampment of Sarikash, whence the road branches off to the Murghab post on the Pamirs, 120 miles distant.

At Sarikash the traveller sees the first evidence of the work of the famous Colonel Grombolsky, the Russian explorer and frontier officer, whose intrigues and promises in Hunza in 1888 led indirectly to the extension of British authority over that territory in 1891, just as the activities of Dorjief some years later were to lead to the British expedition to Tibet, though certainly not to the extension of British authority over that kingdom. In 1893 Grombolsky continued to Sarikash from Gulistan, a distance of 68 miles, the cart road which had already connected this important military post with Osh, a prosperous town on the main road, 30 miles from Andijan. The road was built in order to enable the Governor-General of Tashkent, Baron Vreysky, to drive over the pass in a three-horse carriage. A tablet on the summit of the pass, 11,800 ft. above sea-level, commemorates the achievement. Orders for the construction of the road required that its minimum gradient should be one in seven. It is still in fair condition, but is not used for carts. It is worthy of note that this road was built along a road available for artillery which had been hastily constructed in 1810 between Gulistan and the Pamirs, when preparations for an elaborate scale were being made for the threatened war with China. The road winds through a country of exceeding beauty. Gulistan, the Russian military station, lies in one of the most beautiful valleys in the world. Past the mountain flows a river difficult to ford in the summer, but once it is crossed there is an excellent cart road leading through a well-peopled, richly cultivated country to Osh and Andijan. On every bottle of Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills sold in the United States of America there is placed an extra label, bearing a number and the word "Guaranteed" which denotes that the proprietors of Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills guarantee that they contain nothing that is not in strict accordance with the Pure Food and Drugs Act. It is further guaranteed that Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills comply with the regulations of the Department of Health, both as to the standard of purity of the ingredients used in their manufacture, and also that they are a good, wholesome remedy for the purposes they are advertised for. Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills are a purely vegetable sugar-coated medicinal preparation, carefully compounded by experts, and are manufactured on the premises under the direct supervision of the proprietors. The care taken in the production of these Pills, is illustrated by the manner in which they are packed. Instead of being put up in cheap wooden boxes—that absorb poisonous and other substances—they are packed in glass bottles at a cost of five or six times that of wooden boxes. The extra cost is more than made up in the satisfaction of knowing that the Pills reach the public just as they left the laboratory, unaffected by moisture or climatic changes and free from contamination by contact with any foreign matter.

ONE WHOLE YEAR IN BED WITH MALARIA AND RHEUMATISM. TREATMENT AFTER TREATMENT FAILED UNTIL THE GREAT PROVED REMEDY DR. WILLIAMS' PINK PILLS.

Whilst Mr. P. F. A. Jayawardene owes a great deal to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for his health, he is not alone. The letter's advice and perseverance with the Pills, it is more than likely that to-day he would still be as badly stricken with Malaria and Rheumatism as he was before he tried them.

MR. P. F. A. JAYAWARDENE, OF COLOMBO.

(From a Photograph.)
Mr. Jayawardene's father, Mr. F. A. Jayawardene, is well-known throughout Ceylon, as a Notary Public, and also as a landed proprietor. His son resides with him at "Agnes House," Mutwal, Colombo.

"It was whilst working on an estate of my father's at Kurunegala that I contracted Malaria," said the young man, "and after a year of suffering from this malady, which pulled me down terribly, I became a victim also to Rheumatism. So badly did the latter complaint affect me that when I moved my arms or legs the joints would crack and pain me greatly—the sensation was just as though my very sinews were being pulled out. So helpless did I eventually become that I could not even stand on my legs, and I was kept in bed for a whole year. What a time of misery that was for me no one will ever know."

"Doctor after doctor treated me, and I took gallons of their medicines, but I cannot say that I was benefited in the least degree. I despaired at last of ever recovering my lost health and strength."

"But my father happened to read of a case similar to mine in which Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People had worked a cure, and he induced me to try these Pills."

"I felt no relief at all after the first bottle and wanted to discontinue, but my father pointed out that I could not expect any medicine to cure such an obstinate and longstanding case as mine so quickly, and as I saw the force of his argument, I tried another bottle."

"To my astonishment, the pains in my bones then perceptibly grew less severe day by day, the fever was not nearly so acute, and the fits of shivering were not so prolonged. Three bottles of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills helped me a long way towards recovery, and by the time I had taken four bottles of them I was cured of all intents and purposes, although I still had a slight stiffness in my joints. With two more bottles I was absolutely well, and without a pain in my whole body."

"Dr. Williams' Pink Pills worked a really wonderful cure in my case. I am now as healthy and strong as ever I was, and am taking an active part in both Football and Cricket, which shows what a wonderful cure Dr. Williams' Pink Pills worked in my case. You may publish the above testimony anywhere and as often as you like, for every word of it is true."

Malaria and Rheumatism are both due to poison in the blood. It was by dispelling these poisons by means of the rich, red, good blood which they make that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cured Mr. Jayawardene, just as they have cured tens of thousands of other sufferers like him. These Pills stand unrivalled as a remedy for all disorders due to impure, weak blood and disordered nerves, such as Anemia, Debility, Early Decay, Indigestion, Liver Complaint, Nervous and Sick Headaches, Sciatica, Paralysis, Beri-Beri, Scrofula, Eczema and Skin Eruptions, also those special ailments which afflict ladies only. Obtainable from most medicine vendors, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People can also be had, post free, one bottle for $1.50, or 5 bottles for $8 from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 84, Southview Road, Shanghai.

The Mummy Moves. By MARY GAUNT.

London: T. Werner Laurie.

In "The Unaccounted Cost," Mrs. Gaunt showed us that she had some acquaintance of the West Coast of Africa and the peculiar religious beliefs and emotions of the natives who inhabit that region. Though she locates her latest work in the heart of London, she again gives us a glimpse of the hidden forces that move the West African, venerated though he may be by the police of an English University education. The story opens with the murder of an old curio collector, the possessor of an Egyptian mummy. Shrouded in mystery, the crime is investigated by a delightful detective—Dodson by name—who aspires to be a popular novelist and exudes quotation, classical and modern, in dead and live languages, with the facility of a professor of literature. There are no less than three murders, each bearing the same superficial characteristics. They puzzle Dodson, and we fancy they will puzzle every reader of the book. One is carried from mystery to mystery, following Dodson up one blind alley after another. Mrs. Gaunt has certainly succeeded in hiding her secret very well, and the reader is scarcely prepared for the denouement which draws aside the veil from the final mystery and reveals the unsuspected lover of a serving maid as the perpetrator of the successive murders. There is here thrills sufficient to arouse the interest of the most jaded novel reader, and we must compliment Mrs. Gaunt on a clever piece of writing. It is unfortunate that the printer has allowed an inordinate number of misprints to get into this edition.

The Happy Moralist. By HUBERT BLAND.

London: T. Werner Laurie.

The title of this book suggests its contents. There is in the collection of seventeen storyettes a deal of philosophizing on both big and small problems of life, but it is all done with a literary art and in a style which makes "The Happy Moralist" a book to be welcomed in the idle hour. Mr. Bland is a most entertaining literary conversationalist, a delightful philosopher, and whoever dips into the first few pages of this book will be loath to put it down before he has read it from beginning to end.

THE PEKING-HANKOW REDEMPTION LOAN.

The following is from The Times:

Subscriptions are now invited for an Imperial Chinese Government Seven per Cent Peking-Hankow Railway Redemption Loan of £450,000 issued by the Board of Posts and Communications, and authorized by Imperial edict of October 8, 1906. The total amount of the first issue of the loan is $10,000,000 (Peking currency), but in respect of the $5,000,000 of bonds (equal to £450,000 as above) the Board of Posts and Communications of the Imperial Chinese Government has undertaken to guarantee the payment of capital and interest in sterling. The bonds are redeemable at par by annual drawings during the period beginning in 1915 and ending in 1920. The principal and interest of the bonds are payable free from all Chinese taxes and imposts, present or future. The London City and Midland Bank and Trustee Company (Limited) have agreed to receive on deposit the above-mentioned £450,000 of Imperial Chinese Government bonds and to issue in exchange therefor bond certificates of £250 each, with half-yearly coupons attached. As the Imperial Chinese Government from time to time redeems any of the deposited bonds the London City and Midland Bank and Trustee Company will redeem at par by drawings a corresponding amount of the bond certificates issued by it. The London City and Midland Bank and Messrs. Dunn, Fisher & Co. will receive applications for the purchase of the bond certificates of £250 each issued by the London City and Midland Bank and Trustee Company at £108 per cent, being $106 16s. 5d. for every bond certificate of £250. In the event of the Chinese Government deriving a profit from the earnings of the Peking-Hankow Railway, the bondholders, besides the yearly interest on the loan, will also participate in this profit to be called extra dividend.

A CITY SOLICITOR CHARGED.

HISTORY OF AN UNFORTUNATE PARTNERSHIP.

Appearing at the Mansion House on the 23rd ult. Mr. Francis Ernest Swann, a solicitor, was charged with fraud as a trustee.

Mr. Leveson, who prosecuted for the Director of Public Prosecutions, said the prisoner and Mr. W. J. Bradley, from 1901 to 1909, practised in partnership as solicitors at 6, East India Avenue, under the style of Swann, Bradley & Co. The partnership was dissolved in August, 1909. In March last Bradley became bankrupt, and had since committed suicide. In May last the defendant was adjudicated a bankrupt, but had never surrendered. In March, 1902, a client of theirs, Mr. W. J. Claghton, died at Madeira, and by his will appointed Mr. Bradley and the defendant his executors and trustees. The income of his residuary estate was to be given to his wife. His investments were either to be left as they were or to be transferred of a like nature.

SINGAPORE DOCK SHARES.

Mr. Claghton's property, said counsel, then consisted mainly of certain shares in a dock company at Singapore, and was roughly speaking, of the value of £22,000. After deducting the charge of administration of the trust, over £21,000 ought to have remained in the trustee's hands, but all of it had disappeared. The shares had been sold out, and the proceeds paid into the banking account of Swann, Bradley & Company, these being applied to the ordinary expenses of the firm, to repayments of money to other clients, and to the partners' own drawings. Though all of it had gone, the income had been regularly paid—as if it still existed—to Mr. Claghton's widow and stepson, who received about £15 a week, until recently. It was right to add, counsel said, that the prisoner's late partner, Bradley, seemed to have conducted the financial affairs of the firm, but it was impossible to imagine that the prisoner was not cognizant of the transactions, and it was clear that he participated in the results. Evidence was given in support of Mr. Leveson's opening statement.
